
Attention: Electronic Craftsmen Customers
Subject: EMRT Declaration 2.0
Date: September 15 2025

Dear Customer,

This letter is to inform customers of Electronic Craftsmen that we are not able to provide you with an EMRT (Extended Minerals reporting template) version 2.0.

There is legislation that requires companies to track and report on the origin of Conflict Minerals (identified as Tin, Tungsten, Tantalum, and Gold). This information is reported on a CMRT, which can be downloaded from our website at www.ecraftsmen.com

However, there is no legislation that requires companies to track and report on the origin of the minerals on the Extended Minerals list. Therefore, Electronic Craftsmen's raw material suppliers do not generate EMRT reports on these materials, and do not have plans to track/report on them unless future legislation requires it.

We thank you for your understanding in this matter.

Sincerely,
